

CALL FOR PARTICIPATION

APPLY NOW!

In addition to the eight FoodCLIC pilot city-regions, FoodCLIC aims to engage five European and three African city-regions to act as FoodCLIC's Broadening city-regions.

We seek to co-adapt FoodCLIC's approach, project outputs and learnings to different political, legal, institutional, socio-economic and cultural contexts with the support of the existing project partners and future Broadening city-regions.

The eight Broadening city-regions will have the opportunity to gain insights into practices that have proven successful in the FoodCLIC Living Lab pilot city-regions. At the same time, peer-to-peer exchanges between pilot city-regions and Broadening city-regions will enable mutual learning, networking, and capacity building for all participating city-regions. We strive for sharing, dialogue and effective collaboration to enable cities to take action!

Application deadline: 15 March 2024

HOW WILL A CITY-REGION BENEFIT FROM BECOMING A FOODCLIC BROADENING CITY-REGION?

By participating in FoodCLIC, your city-region will join a cohort of other city-regions committed to sustainable food systems transformation. Through direct exchange, workshops and participation in on- and offline events, all participating city-regions will have the opportunity to share experiences and successes in order to learn from each other. In particular, the FoodCLIC project will support Broadening city-regions to establish suitable science-policy-practice connections to strengthen your food system; and in advancing a structured approach through the development of a workplan, a situation analysis and data maps, a clear vision and strategic pathways.

Broadening city-regions will be provided with guidance, materials and strategic support and benefit from exchange and networking opportunities with pilot city-regions, consortium partners, and experts.

WILL THE BROADENING CITY-REGIONS RECEIVE FINANCIAL SUPPORT?

A travel budget exists for Broadening city-region staff (1-2 persons per Broadening city-region) to participate in at least two in-person peer-to-peer learning activities and to attend FoodCLIC-sponsored activities, such as workshops, the mid-term and the final international conferences.

The Broadening city-region staff will be accompanied by FoodCLIC consortium members and supported through online dialogue and peer-to-peer exchanges taking place online and in-person (e.g. during workshops and conferences).

Aarhus (DK), Budapest (HU), Brasov (RO), Berlin (DE), Lucca (IT), Barcelona (ES), Amsterdam (NL), Lisbon (PT).
